As Northern celebrates its 20th anniversary in 2025, our team of creatives and designers has been busy preparing 20 new items be released throughout the year.

Glint wall lamp reimaged in mouth-blown opal glass and brass

Glint, the beautifully atmospheric wall lamp designed by Swedish designer Felix Isidorsson, is making a comeback with new versions.

Enhance your space with the gentle glow of Glint, now available in more sizes and finishes to suit your style and needs. The new Glint wall lamps feature an 8W light source for optimal brightness and efficiency. Plus, the LED is replaceable, ensuring lasting performance and easy maintenance.

For a fresh interpretation of Glint, the series now introduces an opal white glass edition — the first ever glass wall lamp from Northern. Available in two sizes (36 cm and a smaller 25 cm), both versions provide a soft, diffused light that spreads beautifully, creating an inviting ambiance. The opal mouth-blown glass, paired with a brass centerpiece, adds a timeless, exclusive aesthetic that blends effortlessly into any interior.

Its flat structure extends minimally from the wall, offering a simple yet memorable design with strong personality.

From his base in London, Swedish designer Felix Isidorsson creates a wide range of household products and practical accessories. But he doesn't stop there. Felix also designs graphics and interiors, bringing his passion for surface design and architecture into everyday environments. He believes that good design should build bridges between creativity and interaction, resulting in objects that enhance how people live, work, and socialize.

Felix draws inspiration from the long, dark Nordic winters, which motivate him to rethink the role of lighting in interior spaces. His first design for Northern was the Ink wall lamp, a flawless black disc that projects light over the wall, subtly illuminating the surrounding space. Ink's jet-black surface creates a uniquely diffuse light source, adding a shimmering glow to the interior. He later designed Glint, another striking lamp that continues his exploration of lighting's transformative effects in modern spaces.
